> Kinngsi and Anhui, During the winter there is always a considerable amount of aufering in North-China; in the two provinces named it would seem to be not much greater this year than usual. The condition of Kiungsi was thus described by the Acting Director-General of Grain Transport in the Peking Gazette of the 28th December :-The summer and autumn have passed away without any damage having happened from floods in the part of Kiangei north of the Yangtaze, where it is traversed by the Grand Canal. When it was known that the great breach in the Yellow River was not closed at the commencement of the summer, and the water continued to run into the Huai River, much alarm was felt lest Northern Kiangei should be turned into a vast lake. Great pains were taken with the river works, and new cuts were made to the sea. These Walsh. Wertin informed by the agents (Messra. to display the talent she peasesses. Madame Adamson, Bell & Co.) that the Canadian Pacific Korff possesses none of the mannerisms affooted by many of the modern school of planists, and her style throughout was easy and graceful combined with brilliant execution and artistic expression. Her most successful effort was one of Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsodies, which was played with conspicuous elasticity of touch and masterly attention to detail. Madame Korff also sang the solo in Mendellasohn's "Jerusalem," displaying vocal powers of no mean order. Mdlle Maillard possesses a pleasing voice of considerable compass although some of the notes in her upper register were, on Saturday night, little strained. Her singing, amongst other pieces, of "Vous lui direz " was, however, on the whole, a finished performance. The emptiness of the hall-undenbiedly marred somewhat the Webber's case. Sergeant-Major Williamson said the first witness was employed by him as a messenger. On the morning in question, the boy laid a complaint against the defendant and he was confined in the Guard Room. The case came before Col Forbes-Robertson, when defendant said he was innocent and claimed to be tried by District Court Martial. His request was sent to the Head Quarter office, where it was decided that the offence was a civil one and must come before the Magistrate. He had not heard anything of the second boy's complaint till that morning in Court. Defendant was perfectly sober at the time he was said to have assaulted Defendant said that on the morning in question he was very busy cleaning his accountrements, preparatory to going on guard. He heard a noise in the verandah and went outside to see what was the matter: The boy was crying out that he had been kicked and pointed out him (defendant) as the man. Another private of the Regiment, who oc cupied the same room as defendant, corroborated l his statement.

His Worship said he had no doubt that complainant had been assaulted, but there was only his word for it that defendant was the man He discharged the defendant, not because be was able to say he was innocent but because he was not able to find him guilty. ASSAULTING A POLICE CONSTABLE, > mines in Shantung, of which a short translation from the Shih-pao is given in another column, is the first official and public recognition of the great American financial scheme. The development of Chinese mines, especially of iron, is one of the most important enterprises that can be undertaken, as it lies at the very root of almost every kind of industry. That China should 1:452 aspire to great manufacturing establishment like Krupp's is a notable sign of the times, and however far short of the ideal she may fall every step taken towards its realization will radiate benefits in all directions. China has already given proof | Straits Fire Insurance Company, Limitedof some earnestness in following out these mining enforprises, as the employment of Mr. Church in Mangolia following that of Mr. Becker in Shantung testify. The air is full of mining schemes which are all held in abevance for want of funds. Want of funds, however, in China is 178 only another word for want of confidence, and the exploits of some mining officials a few years ngo would be enough to scare away Chinese capital from such investments for a gen-2,068 eration to come. The desiderata, therefore, are foreign capital, and as a condition precedent, Tls. 7,150 foreign management.
